Scorching!

What a Cowes week! The second largest sailing fleet in the long and distinguished history of the event with over 1,200 boats and over 10,000 sailors all enjoying the sunshine. The only problem with the fabulous weather was an occasional lack of wind which hampered the fleet but not the hospitality and once again we had a string of delighted clients.

The above photo was taken at this years regatta and was one of many shots we could have used, despite the odd doldrum in the wind the racing was as exciting as ever with some exceptionally fine yachts and crews battling it out.

Most notable this year was Alfa Romeo who seemed to steam away with every race she was in but was closely pursued by the likes of Hugo Boss (special crew member being David Coulthard), France 2 and the new Leopard.

Every company we took out this year has vowed to book again following such a fabulous day so if you would like to experience Cowes week 2004 our advice is to book early!!!

Return to the Thames

It's hard to believe it's almost time to return back to London, it seems like only yesterday that the crew were reporting a successful trip down to Poole and the boat was ready to start her summer season. Our next big event will be the Honda Cowes Classic powerboat festival and Indulgence will once again be in the thick of it providing hospitality for the title sponsors.

There are days still available between now and the end of August so if you fancy making the most of this hot weather then please don't delay in calling the sales team on 01296 696006 who will be delighted to arrange a last minute trip out on the Solent.

We will be returning to London on or around August 27th so be quick!
